FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 28, 1862

The Great Battle of Fort Donnelson

We have, at length, the particulars of the great battle of Fort Donelson It proves to have been one of the most terrific encounters at arms which ever took place on this continent. The battle continued through several days, and the conduct of all the regiments engaged was that of skilled and disciplined veterans, upon whose collected masses the iron hail might in vain exhaust its fiercest violence. The attack was commenced on the 14th of January, when the fleet which had been so long preparing for the overthrow of its ascent of the river The firing began on both sides as soon as the assailing fleet had arrived within reach of the enemy's guns, and three of the steamers were almost immediately disabled by well directed shots from the rebel batteries These were the Louisville, Carondolet, and St Louis — There appears to have been some pretty sharp artillery practice on both sides. One shot from the enemy's water batteries carried away the flag staff of the St Louis, upon which the St. Louis, returned the compliment by a well directed ball which cut in twain the flag staff on the top of the fort The enemy were very soon driven from the lower batteries, but the Commodore, finding that with three of his vessels disabled he could not advantageously manœuvre his fleet, gave the order to fall back, and the fleet was allowed to descend with the tide, when the rebels re occupied the water batteries and opened once more on the boats with fearful effect. The firing on both sides was terrific, and the greatest havoc created among the besiegers and besieged At one time the were within two hundred feet of the rebel batteries, and had none of them been disabled, a few minutes more must have seen a portion of the Federal forces landed under the very muzzles of the enemy's guns The mortification of a retrograde movement seems to have operated with salutary effect upon our troops, for on the morning of the 15th we find them resuming the attack, the movement this time being directed by land against the right wing of the enemy's fortifications The brunt of the contest here fell upon the Illinois regiments, every member of which manifested a heroism worthy the legionary soldiers of Greece and Rome.

The number of these four regiments was not three thousand,—the 8th, 18th 20th and 21st holding a position above the fort from which they were attacked by the enemy in force, with a desperation which seemed to manifest a determination to cut their way through and abandon the post to the besiegers. The fire was secret from the rebel side that the thickest columns of the Union ists wavered to and fro like reeds before the breath of the tempest At times great lanes appeared to open here and there through the ranks upon which was directed this destructive fire, but not a file retired, or broke, or fell into disorder, while the officers ran along the front, regardless of personal danger cheering and waving them on to the attack and making themselves the most conspicuous marks for the bullets of the enemy. Whole companies were destroyed by each successive discharge, the soldiers falling in heaps, dead and wounded, some companies being left without officers, and officers being deprived of their entire commands, yet no one for an instant showing the white feather An officer who was an eye witness of the fight avers that, so thickly was the hill strewn with the dead, he could have traversed it from side to side, treading upon a soldier's corpse at every step The constant roar of heavy artillery, the rattle of small arms, the encouraging shouts of the officers, the despairing cheers of the men, created a din that was heard for a great number of miles from the scene of action Horses dashing riderless across the field, added to the excitement and confusion There was no time to remove the wounded, and many died beneath the pressure of advancing columns unable to stay the gush their footing and like sheep In full three hours the engagement held their ground nearly one-third of the entire number having been killed or wounded and over five hundred of one, the 18th having been cut down by the fire of the rebels The only point for the brave Illinoisans was speedy annihilation, for thicker and darker fell it up against them every moment the heavy columns of the besieged the latter fighting with a frantic desperation that indicated a desire to cut their way out at all hazards. The 8th and 18th regiments were cut to pieces and the remnant took the form of a solid square

Reinforcements arrived and the 11th and 12th regiments pursued the contest with renewed vigor They came in time, for in the last moment of exhaustion the order to charge was given with terrible effect It was the moment of advantage expected. On thundered the fresh ranks of the cavalry through the battle ground, and the enemy's line broke and fled in confusion, when suddenly the first of bayonets sprung as by a concerted movement from the ground, to oppose their advance The desperate foe pressed retired to gather fresh energy and with fiendish was desperate indeed The batteries of Swartz and Prossus were taken by the rebels but immediately recovered by the 18th and 1st Illinois, the former using their clubbed muskets for the purpose the rebel cavalry fled in, wheeled, and finally retired by their terrible fire of musketry

Saturday the 15th dawned cold and bleak upon the worn out besieged and besieging within Fort Donaldson They had hardly enjoyed an undisturbed hour for two days of freshness yet they were willing to renew the contest with the first morning daylight During the night the enemy had transferred several of their batteries to positions of their within a few hundred feet of where our right wing was resting

With the first coming of dawn these batteries and only opened upon the 9th 18th 20th 8th and 31st Composing Ogleshy's brigade, which had the advance Simultaneously with this a force of about 1200 infantry and a regiment of cavalry were hurled against the brigade with a shock which shook the ground as with throes of an earthquake The odds were enormous the rebels literally swarming around the devoted patriot bands yet were they pressed irresistibly back, and often when orders had been given for exhausted regiments to retire that others might fill their place, men covered with the grime and smoke of battle, eagerly mounted way and begged to be allowed to use the bayonet — Oglesby's, Wallace's and McArthur's Brigades were necessarily obliged to retire A portion of Swartz's and McAllister's batteries had been lost and gained, and lost again and it was not until the advancing enemy had reached Craft's Brigade and Taylor's and Willard's batteries could be brought into action, that our troops were able to stem the tide An order was soon given for a general movement along the entire Federal lines. Gen Smith mounted on horseback, with his hat on the point of his sword, preceding his troops, and after several hours of desperate fighting, during which the advance of our troops was disputed inch by inch, a joyful shout announced that the enemy's entrenchments had been penetrated and the day was ours

The glory of the day, which deserves to figure forever in history was shared by the Nebraska and Missouri regiments The news was received throughout the Atlantic States with ringing of bells, the firing of guns and every demonstration of joy.

The Oregonian can have no controversy with the Statesman. It will not and cannot reply to the retorts and flings of that paper If these suit the taste of the writer, he can enjoy them But there is another matter in which we feel some interest 'A policy seems to be adopted by the Statesman in its attacks upon Mr Pearne against which we protest Mr Pearne is a known and eminent Unionman, and has a high standing among us The Statesman would strike him down We have scanned its articles and see in them no just cause for doing this

We know nothing of Mr Pearne's political aspirations We have not supposed he had any but if he has who do not see why he cannot properly enter into them as well as any other citizen This right is not lost because of his having been a mechanic, or on account (if it be true) that he was born upon a foreign land, as charged in the Statesman

Lieut Adair.—Rich C Drum, Assistant Adjutant General at San Francisco says of this Oregon Secessionist—"He tendered his resignation, and left his post without leave" and adds, that according to law "he is now registered as a deserter and is liable to be punished as such." It is hardly believed that he will be back in June, to vote the secession ticket

Mr Grenlow, the secesh, who was under arrest in Washington—and whose late letter was published in the secesh papers of this State—has been detected repeatedly in attempting to send information to the rebels She will now be passed on to Lafayette

Dalles.—This is the capital town of Sahmutty It consists of five log houses three of which are occupied as tents and two as whiskey mills.

Gen Wright writes to the Dalles that a military force will be sent up to the Nez Perce mines to protect the miners

Since we have heard there has been a good turn out at the Union precinct meet

The Statesman.—This journal seems determined to kick up a war against Union men Shall we stand by and see one of our Union men struck down? If so, who is to be the next that must quietly submit to have his neck laid upon the block? We know nothing about Dr White, and care but little, we know Mr Pearne, and can vouch for his Union sentiments. Our columns are open to Union men who desire to protect themselves against unjust attacks, from what ever quarter they may come

In answer to the last Statesman we shall say nothing more in reference to it, than the communication published by us from our paper

The writer of the foregoing letter, fully realizing the course of the Statesman for the last eleven years, by saying, the following communication from our paper was written by a life long democrat

But this stamps its own statement as a falsehood from which the Statesman will take very small pretension to being a Union paper unless it be a Union one"

We could grieve to think that I am not a life long democrat, or that I am I have been a Buchanan democrat. To this I would simply remark that when James Buchanan came to the true principles of democracy the writer did not run as a candidate upon a ticket supporting him in his Administration, and thus give encouragement to treason he did not have to wait to know what were true democratic principles until he saw what would prove—Buchanan and the support truth of the South, or Douglas and the true democracy of the South—in which he was kicked out of the company, by Lane, is unworthy to be trusted to associate with traitors And if Mr Bush wishes any further proof of the writers democracy he shall have what he will not himself dispute I have been a constant supporter of the Statesman and of the candidates, with few exceptions that it has supported not that I always personally approved of the candidates of the choice of the Statesman but such as the least of evils Why, my name is to be found on the bill for a newspaper of Mr Bush's father-in-law (and this is the noticed that ever I came to betray for democracy or his principles) Do you want any further proof of my democracy? No Mr Bush, in a leisure moment, after having read the Statesman and been disgusted with the course that you were pursuing in reference to Mr Pearne, I penned the communication to the Oregonian that you might have a picture of the conduct of the Statesman as it appeared to a friend of yours and a Union man, in hopes that a true picture, wherein you might see yourself as others see you might cause you to pause in your career before you injured yourself and the cause which you now profess to have at heart And further Mr Bush intimates that such a thing might be possible as that his course toward Mr Pearne had turned Mr Pearne or some one else away from the Union cause This is no doubt what he desires, but what he cannot accomplish Mr Pearne's and his friends Union sentiments do not depend upon the Statesman or the friendship of its editors They will be found in the Union ranks, when the Statesman will likely be found supporting some Buchanidger or peace-at-any-price as candidate for Congress or United States Senator Surely our aim is to drive Mr Pearne and his friends out of the Union ranks dear friend Bush, you are wasting your time, ink and paper It is useless, we and Union men, and you can make a thing else cut us from your columns if you have the Union cause at heart against the enemies of your country, instead of its friends If we have private quarrels let us wait until our country is safe and then settle them.

UNION

The Charges Against Gen Stone.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune writing from Washington under date of February 10th says "The following statement of the charges against General Stone emanates from the War Department, copies of it having been furnished to the different representatives of the New York press. General Stone was arrested while in bed at two o'clock in the morning Parties at their homes in the hotels and places of publicity and gave rest The first resting statement respecting secession evening glass dealing the arrest as an outrage and a mistake The earnest friends of the war and upholders of Secretary Stanton now pile of action that is the fat of a certain stability that may save us from command's mistakes and wishes will The substance of the charges against General Stone is as follows

First—Is misbehavior at the battle of Ball's Bluff

Second—For holding correspondence with the enemy before and during the battle of Ball's Bluff and giving visits to rebel officers in his camp

Third—For treacherously suffering the enemy to build a fort on his right and left at Ball's Bluff, under his guns without molesting it

Fourth—For neglecting or designedly disobeying instructions to capture and destroy the enemy, whereby the rebels were enabled to move more from the opposite shore with impunity

Daily Oregonian.

THE DAILY OREGONIAN has a larger CIRCULATION LIST than any other DAILY published in this City.

THE DAILY OREGONIAN may be had at the Reading Room, opposite the Post Office.

CIRCUIT COURT—FIFTEENTH DAY.—Nothing of importance to the public was transacted in this Court yesterday. Several petty law cases [illegible] merrimunt was excited during the examination of witnesses in the divorce case of A. J. Colbertson vs. Martha Colbertson, and no little scandal was brought out. In reply to a question asked, one of the witnesses said: "Ef you talk to me, I want you to talk plain Missoury languige. I don't understand anything about your grammer lingo. I don't know what it is, by gosh, because, I don't know what it is." The [illegible] evidently came from Piko.

OREGONIANS.—We think this quartette [illegible] ought to give another concert before they leave. Their last one was well attended, notwithstanding the bad state of the [illegible].

THEATRICAL.—Richard III. will be put on the boards to-night. Queen Elizabeth will be represented by Mrs. Forbes, Mr. Beatty will personate the Duke of Gloster, Mr. Forbes as [illegible], and Miss Lawrence as Lady [illegible]. We hope to see it well played.

[illegible] was played to a fair audience last [illegible].

FOR CHARITY.—We are requested to call the attention of the charitable to the case of a blind negro who is entirely destitute. The county will not take him at their low rate providing for the maintenance of the poor. He has long resided in the city, employed as cook and barber. During the past winter he has been kindly provided for by Edward Morgan of Sauvie's Island.

ACCIDENT.—Mrs. Johnson, of Fort [illegible], met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon. She was riding out in the vicinity of the city, when her horse fell [illegible], injuring her so seriously that but little hope is entertained for her recovery.

We give place to a communication from a gentleman whom we have known to be [illegible] ever since he was entitled to a vote. It would be well for the friends of the Union and those claiming to be "peace" men par excellence, to read it and see if there is a good deal of truth contained in it.

How they do Exhort.

Every democrat has a work to do, for the party and the organization to which it is his pride for him to belong, an organization filled with all that is great, prosperous and gratifying in the past history of the country, upon the maintenance of whose principles in this perilous conjuncture, depends the safety of our institutions of Government, State and national, and upon which rests the hopes of humanity throughout the world, to prove the capacity of man for self-government."

The "exhortation" is taken from the Times of Wednesday. It is evidently intended for those life-long democrats who have followed the various democratic national conventions that have asserted that the votes of Union men should be acquiesced in. And so in the last Presidential campaign they voted the regular nominee of their party. How does the case stand with the friends of the Union? At the time the above exhortation might have been of some use it is not to be supposed that they felt no torture of their consciences when they stood outside their regular organization with the avowed purpose of bringing about the very state of affairs in our country that now exist. Why did not Jo Lane, Jesse Quinn Thornton, Jimmy O'Meara, Geo. L. Curry, Asahel Bush, Joseph Meacher, and the whole clan of them, and Stephen A. Douglas, the regularly nominated candidate for President in 1860? Why did not they do that which would not do them then, for they say that the patriot Douglas would do with it? Why the same as President Lincoln did when they fired at a United States fort manned by a handful of loyal Americans who had been quartered there by the government for the purpose of protecting them and other citizens from the assaults of a foreign or domestic enemy.

Gentlemen, I will tell the Advertiser and the rest of you that are true democrats who love the time honored Statesman and patriot, Stephen A. Douglas, will not leave the cause of the Union at the present time for the purpose of helping those who have stolen the name and livery of democracy for their sole use and the country's ruin. TRUE DEMOCRAT.

Going to the Mines.—Miners who have gone to Salmon River, Ruble's Creek, and the other mining regions, should not start out unprepared to travel in a cold and starved out country, for it is [illegible] to expect from above the Cascades that the country will be bare of all kinds of provisions, &c. &c., as it has been cut off by the long stoppage of navigation. We would inform all who wish to go to the mines and return with their pockets full of "stakes" that HARKER BROTHERS, opposite the Ferry, have and supply themselves with Flour, Bacon, Beans, Blankets, Clothing, Rubber and Sealed Boots, and other articles necessary for mining purposes, before they start for the Land of Promise.

From the Oregon Farmer.

Letter from "A Farmer's Wife."

Patrons and readers of the Farmer:

I will tell you an o'er true [illegible].

It was a cold, wet, miserable day in November. Not such a rainy day as one may [illegible] when the sky is overcast with dreary clouds now black, now purple, now leaden colored; when the rain comes down in blinding torrents, accompanied by fitful gusts of shrieking wind, that causes one to turn, with a feeling of real enjoyment towards the blazing and crackling fire; but one of these raw, misty, foggy seasons that soils shoes and carpets, gives children an unconquerable desire to run out of doors, and invariably makes them fall down in the mud when they get out; a day upon which fire won't burn brightly, and baby will worry his tired mother into almost insufferable impatience. It was rather past the dinner hour, and I was trying in vain to make the fire cast a cheerful glow through the sitting room, so that things might look pleasant when my husband should come in from work, when I felt almost startled by hearing at this critical moment a loud rap at the door. Tugging the baby on my aching arm to keep him quiet, I prepared to answer the summons as graciously as possible.

The door was opened, and there stood a man in wet and filthy garments; a man who could not have witnessed the frosts of more than fifty winters, but his body shook and reeled as if from extreme age. I invited him to the fire—which, after enjoying a brief respite from my useless pushing and blowing, began to do its duty with some signs of obedience. The old man sat down in the proffered chair, pulled his hat still further down over his bearded features, and maintained a perfect silence. I thought he acted strangely, and asked him if he was sick. He replied that he was cold and tired, and asked for tobacco and a pipe. We had no such articles to give him; so I set the fretting baby down, and running to the kitchen, poured him a cup of boiling tea. He drank it almost at a draught, so hot that it would have burned my fingers; then, handing back the tea cup, he asked if we had any "bitters" about the house—meaning, probably, whisky. I had none and was glad I could say so; but a second and then a third cup of tea seemed to revive him and as he grew warm, he gradually became cheerful.

As I was much interested in what he told me (which I afterwards learned to be strictly true) I will retold it for the benefit of the young men and boys who read the Farmer. I hope my friends that you will all read what I am about to write, and if any of you are inclined to go into the path that leads to destruction, may you learn from the melancholy history of this poor old man a useful and salutary lesson!

He said that he and Mr. Lincoln had been schoolmates together. He had even studied law in the same institution with our President. Was intimately acquainted in his younger days with Douglas, Baker, and other celebrities, whose great and glorious career not only make up some of the brightest pages in the melancholy drama that has been and is now being enacted in our once united and happy country, but whose names will live while time lives, in the history of nations.

He did not allude to the cause of his deviation from the track in which these great men had traveled, but alas! his bloated face and blood-shot eyes, his uncertain steps and trembling limbs, told, too plainly, the story of a misspent life! The time had been when the future was as bright and promising before him as it could have been before his cotemporaries.

He possessed more than ordinary talents, which even the demon intemperance had not yet wholly shrouded in darkness. But while his companions rose to distinction and honor, while the late decease of two of them has caused a nation's heart to throb in agony, and others yet live to shed a lustre of light over their fellow-beings, countless eruptions caused by what is not yet pure in our great Republic—foremost of whom stands Mr. Lincoln, the weight of a discordant nation pressing hard upon his giant frame; this man, who might have been his counselor, supporter, and friend, had he pursued the path that leads to the right upon which our President now stands—by turning aside into crooked ways, keeping low company and indulging in intemperate habits, has sunk to a level with, and even below the beasts which perish!

I watched the poor old man as he tottered out into the dismal mist, and my soul went up in a fervent appeal that the young men and boys of Oregon might awake to the necessity of waging a war of extermination against old King Alcohol, who is, if possible, a worse enemy to progress than the dire hallucination of secession.

Young men of Oregon! do you desire that your names may go down to generations yet unborn as worthy to be classed with those of Washington, Jackson, Baker, or Douglas? Beware, O! beware of the intoxicating bowl! Shun the deadly reptile of the Still, lest he embrace you till you die! Meddle not with him, for at the last he biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder!

A FARMER'S WIFE.

P. S. There is in youth a beauty and purity of character, which, if once touched and defiled, can never be restored. A man who has spotted and soiled his garments in youth though he may wash them white again, can never wholly rid them of the stain. He may wash them with his tears, often were he to wash them with his tears. What a young man leaves his father's house with the blessing of his mother's tears, still wet upon his forehead, if he once loses that early purity of character, it is a loss that he can never make whole again. Such is the consequence of crime. Its effects cannot be eradicated; it can only be forgiven.

HA! HA!—An eastern exchange says: A jolly old bachelor in Waldo, Oregon, has sent a photograph in a letter to the New Bedford ladies and requests them to communicate to him on the subject of matrimony. He says:—"I am 50 years old, 6 feet 1 inch high and weighs 200 pounds. I am well able to take care of a wife."

Put your cares into small packages so as not to annoy others by them.

Agency Notice.—Mr. L. P. FISHER is our only authorized Agent in San Francisco to receive advertisements, and transact business for the DAILY and WEEKLY OREGONIAN. Office—No. 47½ Washington street, nearly opposite Maguire's Opera House.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are causes of PLEURISY, BRONCHITIS and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges for the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat to ever so slight, as by this precaution many serious attacks may be effectually warded off. Public SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. [illegible] advertisement.

The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY is already secured in a position which places it, as well as its proprietor, far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy, with others, an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical minds of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equalled him in this country as a proof of which the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma, and the honorary ad eundem degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for some expected callers, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has bent his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he has acquired so great an expert, that he is now regarded as the leading in this branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most exclusive journals. The Doctor's office and [illegible] Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sansome, corner of Lombard, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the [illegible] of remarkable cures in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in correspondence, please enclose $10 in their letters, and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. Union State Convention.

The qualified voters of the State of Oregon who are in favor of the suppression of the present unnatural rebellion—of a vigorous prosecution of war so long as necessary to frustrate the mad schemes of armed traitors—who are opposed to any peace which may have the honorable end in view of re-union when rebels and their sympathizers submit to the constitutionally elected and qualified authorities, and legally enacted laws of the Government—who think more of country than of party preferment, and individual preference—who are in favor of supporting the present government in its endeavors to defend the Constitution, secure the laws and preserve the Union and who are willing, for the time being, for the election of a ticket upon such principles in the coming general election, without reference to former distinctions are requested to meet at the place of holding the several precincts in the various counties of the State on Saturday the 22d day of March A D 1862 for the purpose of holding a County Convention to be held in the city of Salem, the county seat of the State, at the county seat thereof on the 25th day of March A D 1862 for the purpose of electing delegates to a State Convention, to be held at Eugene City, Lane county, on Wednesday the 26th day of March A D 1862 for the purpose of nominating a Union Ticket for State officers and Member of Congress, as follows: Jackson, 5 Delegates, Josephine, 6 Douglas 8, Curry 1, Coos 1, Umpqua 2, Linn 8, Benton 5, Polk 5, Yamhill, 6; Marion, 12, Clackamas 7, Multnomah 5, Washington, 4; Columbia, 1; Clatsop 1, Tillamook 1, Wasco 4.

Portland, Jan. 8th, 1862

To the Republicans of Oregon

The undersigned were instructed at the last State Convention to Convene the Republicans of the State at their next meeting at Eugene City.

Events that have transpired since the meeting of the last State Convention, could not then be foreseen, are now present to the people paramount to all issues that heretofore divided political parties.

While we claim no right to dissolve the Republican organization, nor do we see any cause to recant any political principle heretofore held by us, yet believing that the vital issue now before the people is the preservation or destruction of our Institutions, we are unwilling to do anything to distract the Union sentiment in the coming canvass, and therefore have deemed it unwise to call a party convention with a view to the support of a distinctively Republican ticket.

In taking this course we have been guided by the expressed wishes of Republicans throughout the State, and an honest desire on our part, to avoid any barrier to the hearty support of a Union ticket by the loyal support of the State without regard to former political differences.

History verifies the fact that the fathers of our common country, supposed that they had committed a perpetual Union; they are only traitors who have now attempted to overthrow it, we therefore call upon one and all to the support of the priceless inheritance bequeathed to us by the founders of this Republic. He that neglects, for any trivial cause at this time, to testify his devotion to our country; to a government that has made us the most prosperous and favored people on the face of the globe is not worthy the name of American citizen. We therefore trust to the intelligence and patriotism of the loyal people of this State, to show by unanimity at the coming convention and election, their abhorrence of secession and treason, their love of country its prosperity and perpetuity.

We therefore earnestly recommend to the Republican voters of the State, that without regard to party, they should in the coming canvass, heartily unite in nominating and supporting a ticket composed of Union men who stand the test embraced in the call which is herewith published.

Treats all diseases, the first great cause,
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws.

To the Afflicted:

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret disease—Self-Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Stricture, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Blood, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancer, Chronic Diseases, Epilepsy or Fits, St Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervousness, Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Disease, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all impurities or discharges of both sexes. All matters not from what cause, the disease originated, however long standing or of whatever nature the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and resisted all their means of cure. The medicines prescribed are pleasant, without odor, entirely vegetable causing no sickness, and free from mercury or balsam. During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands who, in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases, had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care a speedy and permanent cure. Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula, and many other diseases, and should be attended to the first in family. A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected in a majority of cases, falling into the hands of the impostor persons who not only fail to cure the disease, but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury, which with the disease, hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption. But should the disease, and the treatment have caused such general and the victim marry, the disease is entailed upon the children, who are born with a feeble constitution, and the current of life corrupted by the virus which betrays itself in scrofula, fetter ulcers, consumptions and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing, upon them a brief existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Solitude is another formidable enemy to health for nothing else in the dreadful train of human diseases, sows so destructive a principle upon the system—drawing, as it does, hundreds of victims through a long years of suffering down into an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system rapidly, wastes away the energies of the entire mental and organic powers, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a horrible end. Many a broken down constitution could have been restored to health and strength, and many a life saved, that now finds a premature grave, by timely relief and proper medicine which almost instantly relieved me, filling me with pain and dizziness in my head. Encouraged by these results I resolved to place myself under his care, and in fact in two months after having commenced I felt as if inspired by a new life within me. I felt a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate victim against falling into the snares of the impostor quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. L. J. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice being assured by my own experience, that under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

MARYSVILLE, June 24, 1861.

DR L J CZAPKAY San Francisco—Sir: I received the last of your medicine, and do not think I shall require any more, as I feel very well except that I have not yet got my strength yet but soon will with the use of your medicine. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I commenced your institute, with my constitution, as I expected, entirely ruined, and never thought you would be able to restore me perfectly but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and stop the nervous sensation so that I would not get excited and trembling as I was. Now that you know what I expected, judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery. All the symptoms and the removal of those sores and ulcers from my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and the white appearance of the secretions, which you said were the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest joy or my surprise, for except not having got my strength I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your fee, which I think myself cheaply cured. If you think any more is merited you may put this letter in the newspapers. I remain yours respectfully yours,

THOMAS ——

Thankfulness is the incentive to ——.

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire to do good, I wish to lay before the public a case which I consider a special dispensation not only as an act of scientific skill, but as a humanity also. About two years ago, I suffered from a disease unknown to me, was seized with a fit of ——, which owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the disagreement which I met with on attempting it, rendered me helpless for such (I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of ——, thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning, and although I was incapable to the agonies. I yet remained a subject of my life, and soon learned to look upon myself as a —— without assistance or shelter me from the —— of the —— who sought to prolong the existence of ——. While in this state and having previous to my —— tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to seek relief, and of a physician and by recommendation of —— upon Dr L J Czapkay. I told him of my case, and was unability to reward him for his services, the result of which however he at once undertook my case, and by the blessing of God I was once more restored to health. I could not reward him for the boon which I received and yet cannot cease to do my indebtedness. I do hope I may not be afflicted to make the case known, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.
